Fidelity U.S. Small / Mid Cap Core Fund – Series I

a sub-fund of Fidelity Common Contractual Fund

Class A1 Units (ISIN: IE00B3WX5249)

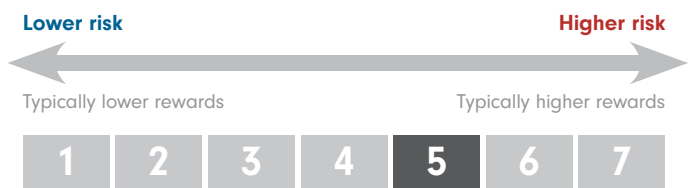

This fund is managed by FIL Fund Management (Ireland) Limited

Objectives and Investment Policy

- The fund's objective is to achieve long term capital growth by mostly investing in the shares of small and mid-sized companies in the U.S.
- The fund is actively managed and references the Russell 2500 Index (the "Benchmark") by seeking to outperform it.
- The majority of the fund's equities will be components of the Index. The investment manager may use its discretion to invest in companies not included in the Index in order to take advantage of specific investment opportunities. The investment strategy will restrict the extent to which the portfolio holdings may deviate from the index. The fund seeks to limit the ex-post annualised tracking error to the Index to 7% over a rolling three-year period.
- The fund will invest in the shares and American depository receipts or ADRs (securities which represent the shares of certain non-U.S. companies) of small-sized companies (which may be valued between $300 million and $2 billion) and mid-sized companies (which may be valued between $2 billion and $10 billion) in the U.S or exercising a prominent part of their economic activity in the US on the basis of the investment manager's active selection strategy and research which seeks to take advantage of price differences.
- The fund may also invest in other collective investment schemes and exchange traded funds in line with the fund's investment objective and in real estate investment trusts and publicly traded limited partnerships to gain exposure to U.S. property.
- The fund may also hold cash and invest in bank deposits.
- Income may be paid to investors annually, or more frequently, at the discretion of the manager unless an investor has requested that it be reinvested in additional units.
- You can buy and sell units on any day when the banks in Dublin and the stock exchanges in New York are open.
- Investors should consider an investment in the fund to be a medium term investment.

For full details of the objectives and investment policy please refer to the prospectus and relevant supplement.

Risk and Reward Profile

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.
- The higher the category the greater potential for reward, but also the greater the risk of losing the investment. The lowest category does not mean risk free.
- The fund is in this category because it invests in small and mid-sized companies which may carry higher risk.

Other risk factors which should be taken into account before investing, include:

- Investing in other investment schemes may expose investors to increased risk due to restrictions on withdrawals, less strict regulations and use of derivatives.
- The value of the shares of small and mid-sized companies may be less predictable than those of larger companies. As a result it may be more difficult to sell those shares which can have a negative affect on the prices at which the fund can purchase and sell these securities and therefore negatively affect the value of the fund.
- The failure of a manual process or I.T. system, or ineffective controls in place to monitor all processes and systems, may result in financial loss to the fund.
- The failure, financial or otherwise, of an organisation that provides services such as the safekeeping of assets or acts as a counterparty to financial instruments, may result in financial loss to the fund.

For full details of the relevant risks reference should be made to the risk factors sections of the prospectus and relevant supplement.
